

YANDELL WILL STEP OUT.

Won't Accept the Deputy Collectors Under Franks.—Major Crumbaugh Hopeful of a Good Place.

Middleborough, Th's State, Said to Be on a Boom.—Other Late Telegraphic News of Interest to All.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Senator Deboe came here with the resignation of Collector Yandell in his pocket and after being assured by the President Saturday that he would appoint Franks according to the dictation of the Senator, Yandell was immediately appointed. It is now said that owing to some sort of a misunderstanding Yandell after all is not to have the Chief Deputyship under Franks.

Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 8.—T. J. Yandell will decline the Deputy Collectors, and return to Marion, where he will again engage in the banking business.

A Chance For Crumbaugh.

Washington, Nov. 9.—The friend of Major Crumbaugh have not lost hope, and are quite confident that he will yet get a first-class appointment from this Administration. The Major, so it was stated, is slated for a good office under the Secretary of the Treasury. Tomorrow by appointment Senator Deboe and Dr. Hunter will call at the White House and see the President in his behalf. There are several good offices still held by Democrats, any one of which will be acceptable.

TO EMPLOY 1,000 MEN.

The Mammoth Watts Syndicate Steel Plant to Go Into Blast.

Middlesborough, Ky., Nov. 9.—The mammoth basic steel plant and iron furnaces of the Watts Steel and Iron Syndicate are undergoing repairs and will go into full blast about December 1. Birmingham capitalists are said to have purchased an interest in the syndicate, and it is generally believed the furnaces will henceforth be successfully operated. Employment will be furnished to over 1,000 men, and there is great rejoicing in the "Magic City." It is also believed that the starting of the steel plant has a great deal to do with the proposed government armor plate factory, but this is neither affirmed nor denied by the operators.

THE WRIT REFUSED.

United States Supreme Court Will Not Interfere in Durrant's Case.

Washington, Nov. 9.—The United States supreme court yesterday affirmed the decision of the circuit court for the California circuit, refusing a writ of habeas corpus to William Henry Theodore Durrant, under sentence of death for the murder of Miss Blanche Lamont, in San Francisco in April, 1895. The case has attracted attention throughout the whole of the United States, and the decision permits the law to take its course with the condemned man. Chief Justice Fuller announced the court's conclusion, but made no remarks in doing so, save to cite a few authorities on which the court based its decision.

Will Go to the Klondike.

Benton, Ky., Nov. 9.—E. Barry, former County Judge, will start for the Klondike gold fields in February or March. Judge Barry has organized a stock company. All the stock was taken and many more desired to go into the company after it was too late.

A Destructive Gale.

Monterey, Ky., Nov. 9.—The gale last night blew down the Baptist church, a grist mill and five dwellings. No lives were lost.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Terrible Tragedy in Bell County.—The Murderer Crazy.

Pineville, Nov. 9.—Andy Vaughn, a farmer of this county, today shot and killed his wife and then shot himself. Vaughn was supposed to be insane.

Only One Case Today.

New Orleans, Nov. 9.—Only one case of yellow fever today and the situation is greatly improved.

POLITICAL OFFENDERS.

Granted Pardon by the New Captain General.

Havana, Nov. 8.—G. M. Blanco today signed a proclamation granting pardon to all persons sentenced in Cuba for rebellion against Spain, provided that their sentences were based upon political grounds only. Those who have been sentenced as common criminals, and under military law will be pardoned only if the captain general deems it expedient after investigation. The decree is preceded by an introduction in which Gen. Blanco declares that in accordance with the magnanimous feelings of the government of Her Majesty, he takes this step in order to prove that Spain is resolved both to punish with severity those who continue to fight against her sovereignty and to open her merciful arms to her repentant sons.

BLACKBURN'S OPINION.

He Says Kentucky is Now Safely Democratic.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Ex-Senator Blackburn, who has just arrived, said in an interview today that the Democratic victory in Kentucky was of a character to insure permanence. "It was," he said, "a perfectly clean cut victory and a triumph for the Chicago platform, without equivocation. The state is now safely within the Democratic lines, and will stay there. It is certain that the next United States Senator elected will be a Democrat."

CUTTING AT JONES' HALL.

Al Winfrey Slashed Frank Walker.

Frank Walker, a young man who resides on South Thirtieth street, between Ohio and Tennessee, was stabbed in the side by Al Winfrey at a dance at Jones' hall last night.

It appears that Walker had been dancing with Winfrey's sister, to which young Winfrey objected. He expressed himself to Walker, and quite naturally a quarrel arose which resulted in Walker being cut.

The knife blade struck a rib, which doubtless was very favorable for the victim.

Dr. Troutman was called and dressed the injury, and the dance went on as if nothing had happened. Winfrey escaped.

THE COURTS.

Docket for the Approaching Term of the Federal.

County Court in Session.—Alfred Will Case on Trial.

U. S. COURT.

The United States court convenes a week from tomorrow, and below is the docket, which is unusually small. The circuit court docket consists solely of damage suits, four being against the Illinois Central R. R. Company for an aggregate of about $70,000. The other is against the News for $50,000.

The regular day for the convention of federal court was next Monday, but Judge Barr was compelled to attend the court of appeals, and postponed court until Monday.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.

St. Bernard Coal Co. et al vs Steamer Lamson, settled.

United States vs Mary Bell, indicted for violation of pension laws.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

H. W. Handley vs I. C. R. R. Co., transcript from Fulton circuit court.

M. M. Chosts, administrator, vs I. C. R. R. Co., transcript from Graves circuit court.

M. E. Reddell, administrator, vs I. C. R. R. Co., transcript from Graves circuit court.

Addie Mooney, administrator, vs I. C. R. R. Co., transcript from McCracken court.

E. M. Brown vs Paducah News Pub. Co., petition ordinary for damages.

COUNTY COURT.

E. W. Jackson was appointed a commissioner to open the Pool and Cross Mill road.

The petition for change in the McKendrick and Lovelaceville road was continued for relinquishment of right of land.

The matter of building a portion of the Blandville and Wadesboro roads was continued.

Mr. J. A. Bauer, assignee, this day came and satisfied the court that the personal estate of I. Young was insufficient to meet the liabilities of said Young, and Mr. Bauer was authorized to offer for sale and to sell the property.

In the matter of the Mt. Olivet and Gum Springs road, a continuance was made to hear report of F. E. Graves.

Court will convene again tomorrow.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The C. O. Allard will case is well under way in the circuit court, and there is quite a large number of witnesses to be heard.

C. O. Allard, the defendant, was the first witness called today, and his testimony consumed the entire afternoon.

Hon. E. W. Bagby was put on the witness stand this afternoon, and his evidence was being heard at press time.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

Gov. Bradley and Party at Eddyville Today.

Gov. W. O. Bradley and party of five went down to Eddyville from Louisville this morning and reached the branch penitentiary about 11 o'clock. The work will be inspected, after which the party may come down to Paducah for supper, returning to Louisville on the "cannon-ball" in the morning.

I have just put in a large stock of fresh baked cakes. Fresh every day. STUTZ. 9012.

RAILROAD NEWS NOTES.

New Time Tables to Be Introduced on Both of the Railroads.—Man Loses a Leg.

The Dispatcher's Office Soon to Be Moved.—Other Removal Rumors.—Brief Mention of the I. C.

A new time card goes into effect on the Illinois Central in a short time. Some very important changes will be made.

The train from Louisville, No. 201, which now arrives at 12:10, will after the new schedule go into effect arrive about 2:40 in the afternoon and meet the East bound train in the yards here. This will throw the morning papers here several hours later.

Then there will be some changes in the accommodation trains. The train which arrives in Central City about 6:30 a. m. will go through to Paducah, arriving about 10:30 in the forenoon. This will result in the 6 p. m. accommodation being taken off.

The afternoon trains will be flyers, the west bound train stopping only at Central City, Nortonville, Princeton, Kuttawa and Paducah.

A new time card goes into effect Sunday on the N. C. & St. L. The train will leave about 6:30 a. m. instead of 9:30 and will arrive at 9 p. m. instead of 6:30.

Bob Corbin, of Mayfield, while riding on the trunk rod of Conductor "Chippie" Anderson's train last night, between Hickory Grove and Mayfield, was caught by a cattle guard and thrown under the train. He lost a leg by the accident.

He, and a companion named Mason, were stealing a ride to Mayfield, Mason riding the blind baggage and Corbin clinging to the trunk rod. The latter was recklessly letting himself down and drawing himself up again when the cattle guard caught him. His companion witnessed the accident and informed the conductor, who stopped the train and backed up.

Last night's threatening clouds seem to have caused quite a severe blow below Paducah, but no damage is reported except to the railroad company's wires, several of which were down between Paducah and Fulton this morning.

It is reported on seeming good authority that the Illinois Central contemplates establishing its freight house adjacent to the Union depot. The ground around the depot, which is all owned by the railroad company, was surveyed, and since the river front extension started, at looks logical that the company's most important buildings will eventually form that big nucleus, the Union depot. It is thought that in the course of time the dispatcher's office will find its way to the Union depot.

A new floor was today placed in the hallway at the Union depot.

Conductor "Chippie" Anderson now has a passenger run with the I. C. He came in this morning from Fulton.

Mrs. B. J. Jacoway, who came here to escape the yellow fever, left last night for home.

There are now two operators on the day watch at the Broadway dispatchers office, under Chief Dispatcher Jargenson. The change was inaugurated Saturday.

Mr. R. H. McClelland, traveling freight agent of the Georgia Railroad, is at the Palmer.

A colored brakeman named Whitmer, who was run over and had a leg cut off at Millwood about ten days ago, was brought in and lodged in the railroad hospital last night.

L. C. SPIKES.

Flagman Frey has severed his connection with the Illinois Central Co., returning to Kansas City, Mo., his home.

Henry Thompson can now be found on the 155 and 172 runs, pulling the bell cord.

Conductors Buckmaster, Davis and Caney have gone down on the Y. & M. V. to run between Vicksburg and New Orleans.

Conductor Will Foster is able to be out on crutches, but not able to hit the caboose steps yet, and will not like take his run for a month or more.

Flagman Alex Beades wore a broad smile on the 2nd, and why shouldn't he after find $1, voting the winning ticket and earning $2.85 all in one day.

Flagman Blankenbaker came very near depriving a certain conductor of his honor as "cap" with his kerchief mash up the road. So it goes. What a pity to deprive one of this "great title!"

Flagman Charlton has been tendered the yard at Newburg, Tenn., but has refused it, we judge, on account of the smallness of the salary paid.

Flagman Scotten is visiting his home in Missouri. Many thought he was hiding out from Yellow Jack, but later rumors has it that greater attractions at the other end of the line caused his sudden disappearance and his board bill may be increased on his return.

The two South End locals were put back on yesterday. "Dady" Cameron and Kinkle will have a hot time long the line for the next few days.

A tramp had both legs cut off at Rockport, Ky., last night by a freight train.

The yellow fever scare is convalescent and the quarantines are gradually being raised along the line. Some of the small towns are very glad to see the locals go on for their stock was very low.

Stormy Mulvin, on the 872, carries off the laurels for the fastest run made on the pike, from Fulton to Memphis, on 153, in six hours. Leaving Fulton with twenty loads, arriving at Memphis with sixteen loads, after picking up and setting out cars at Rivas, Newbern, Dyersburg and Ripley, with a twenty minutes knock-out by Second 172 at meeting point.

Conductor Peoples has added to his menagerie quite an interesting pet. It is a raccoon, fresh from the wilds of Obion bottom, captured on the very spot where the once famous hunter killed so many bear several years ago. While Dick was conductor on the M. & O. railroad he had an educated coon that could perform many difficult feats. But one day he got too flip (like many other brackies), and in passing over the top of the cars, following Dick over to the engine, fell between the cars. The caboose brakeman saw him fall. The train was flagged down and backed up to where poor old "Zip" lay between the rails cut in twain.

The Illinois Central freight department is keeping its shippers informed as to the quarantine regulations in the South, says the Courier Journal. They issue every day two circulars containing the names of points to which shipments cannot be made. As the quarantines are lifted the circulars are corrected and again sent out. During the past week the quarantines have been pretty generally withdrawn, and for that reason it has been necessary to issue circulars every day or two to keep the service up to date.

This method is of vast advantage to the shipper, who is enabled thereby to keep in touch with the conditions.

Still the regulations are severe. For instance, a shipment of chairs to Covington, Tenn., was returned to Louisville unopened because of the quarantine regulations of that place against Louisville. The cold weather, however, is beginning to clear the way for the railroads and shippers again.

LIGHT ON A PIECE

OF HISTORY.

Another Version of Crisis Between England and the United States Over the Trent Affair.

London Cable to the New York World.

It was the direct personal intervention of Queen Victoria on her own initiative that averted war between the United States and Great Britain over the seizure of Mason and Sidel on the British ship during the civil war. This highly interesting historical fact is revealed for the first time by a writer in the current issue of the Quarterly Review, whose contributions, though anonymous, are valued by all men of high standing in literature and politics. He says:

"We are in position to state on the authority of one of the most prominent statesmen of our time, who had the distinguished honor of enjoying in a special manner the confidence of Her Majesty, that it was the Queen herself, in opposition to the views of her Ministers and of the distinguished men in question, who averted the war. She insisted that the dispatch which was sent to America demanding peremptory surrender of the envoys should be communicated at once to all the powers, and that the grave consequences of a conflict from an international point of view be pointed out. The result was that an able state paper was sent to Washington by M. Thouvenin, stating that France regarded the act of the American captain who had arrested the Confederate envoys on board the British ship quite justifiable, and expressed the hope that the federal government would accede to the demands of Great Britain, Austria and Prussia immediately followed suit. Prince Gortchakoff, on the part of Russia, urged President Lincoln to surrender the envoys without delay. These remonstrances from the powers enabled the government at Washington to escape without humiliation from an untenable position, and saved England from entering into a war which would, in all human probability, have ended in the disruption of the American Union, sown the seeds of deathless enmity between England and the progressive, powerful Northern States."

Loose Real Estate.

Some estimate of the vast labor required on the sewerage may be obtained when it is stated that hundreds of wagon loads of dirt have been hauled off the streets where the excavations have already been filled, and judging from the appearance of other streets over which the workmen have gone, there are hundreds of more wagon loads that might be removed. The majority of citizens will wonder what has been put in the streets to take the place of the dirt.

THE SCAFFOLD

For "Devil" Winston's Execution Being Built.

It is Now Under Way at Langston Mill.

If "Devil" Winston were in the vicinity of Langston's mill during the next few days, he could hear the sound of the saw and hammer that are being used in the construction of the scaffold on which he is to meet fate that is to be his, deserved or undeserved.

Mr. J. M. Dunlap, the carpenter, today began making the scaffold at Langston's mill. After being made ready for erection, which will be in a few days, it will be transported to the jail yard, and there put up for use on Nov. 19, when the execution is to take place.

Sheriff Holland will divulge to no one the hour of the hanging. To those who hold tickets of admission, he has simply said, "Come early, and stay late. He desires to guard against the crowd of curious people who would no doubt be there if the hour were announced."

PADUCAH FIRM

Is Erecting a Fine Monument at Princeton.

It is Over the Remains of Mrs. Wm. Booth.

Mr. John Williamson went up to Princeton today to look after a monument. Messrs. Williamson & Sons are erecting there for Mr. Wm. Booth over the remains of his young wife.

The monument is a very fine one, and is modeled after one in Oak Grove erected by Mr. I. D. Wilcox, and which Mr. Booth saw once while going through the cemetery, and greatly admired. It is of granite and marble, and eight or ten feet high.

DUFFY'S MISHAP.

A Farce Comedy in Three Acts Will Appear at Morton's Next Week.

Not only is the play one of the funniest and brightest of all farce comedies, but it is said to be entirely free from the "horse play" that pervades many plays of that school. The company is composed of clever specialty people who are capable of giving an entertainment that will please everybody. The big feature of the performance is the club swinging and globe walking of Zoyarra the Great. Zoyarra is a wonder in his line and has made a decided hit wherever he has appeared. There will be three performances: Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, the 11th, 12th and 13th inst. The price of admission will be 15, 25 and 35 cents.

STATE ELECTION FIGURES.

Reports indicate that the total vote will be about 350,000.

With the figures missing from only eighteen full counties the total vote cast for the candidates for appellate clerk was 329,898. In some of the counties reported a few precincts are missing, but as the eighteen missing counties are small it is probable that the official total will not greatly exceed 350,000, which is about 100,000 less than the vote cast in the state last year.

The figures received show a total vote of 6,108 for Parker, the Populist candidate. In his case many more counties are missing, and it is probable that his vote will be increased to 7,000, if not more. Wallace, the Prohibitionist, has only 1,297, but comparatively few counties reported his vote. Mr. Parker made a better showing than was expected after the first election returns were received.

CUT AND RAN.

Darkies Have a Disturbance at Odd Fellows Hall.

Bertie Rouse was slightly cut last night at the Colored Odd Fellows Hall by Kid Reese, who was engaged in a fight with John Lowry and cut at him. All are colored, and the principals in the fray managed to escape.

"CAPTAIN O THE NO II."

The Attraction At Morton's Tonight.

William Bonelli in the new farce comedy "Captain of the Nonsuch," will be the attraction at Morton's Opera house tonight. The company comes strongly endorsed by the press, and our theatre goers are promised a fine entertainment at Morton's tonight.

TUESDAY, NOV. 9, 1897.

When a Mexican takes $5 in Mexican silver, for every dollar of which he has to work as hard as his American brother works for his gold dollar, and buys with it goods worth $2 in American gold, that is Mexican Bryanite prosperity. The working-men of this country don't want any of it in their.

EX-CANDIDATE BRYAN accounts for the present improved times (he admits they have improved) by the famine abroad and the discovery of gold in the Klondike, but he apparently forgets that double the amount of money has been expended in fitting out people to go to the Klondike than has yet been taken out from the mines.

The new commissioner on reciprocity, Mr. John Kasson, is especially fitted for the position to which he has been appointed. He is an eminent diplomat and when serving as minister to Austria, and also, as minister to Germany, rendered valuable service to this country from a commercial standpoint. Mr. Kasson is now engaged in getting his new department into running order.

FURTHER fusion between Populism and Democracy grows more unpopular in the South as the months pass. Congressman Howard, of Alabama, a prominent member of the Populist party, said in a recent interview in Cincinnati: "It will be impossible to get the support of our party for Mr. Bryan again. Populists will not be drawn into the support of Democratic candidates. We have been betrayed by the Democrats, and it will be impossible for them to use our party again in a national election."

"EXCLE HOD" Boise cannot be kept still. All of the threats and persuasions of his Democratic associates will not induce him to any longer support the free-coinage proposition of the Democratic platform of last year. He is out in a new and vigorous communication in which he says that while he wants to see silver used as currency, he is satisfied that the proposition for its free and unlimited coinage at a ratio so different from the commercial ratio would be not only injudicious, but fatal.

Nothing seems to please the politicians of the Bryan stripe so much as calumny of whatever nature. Ex-candidate Bryan in his speech at Newark, Ohio, the other day, triumphantly pointed out the fact that wheat, which passed the dollar line in August and September, dropped ten cents a bushel after doing so and suggested that the Republican party had not been able to keep wheat at a dollar a bushel. Curiously wheat had again passed the dollar line, two or three days prior to this statement of Mr. Bryan, who apparently thought that his hearers were not posted on wheat prices.

AFTER a political fight in which every resource of diabolism was exhausted by the Democrats, Senator Hanna has once more carried the banner of Republicanism to victory in Ohio. He had to meet treachery and opposition in his own party, and the unlimited use of money by the Democrats. Boss Cox, of Cincinnati, and Mayor McKisson of Cleveland, both leading Republicans of two leading cities, were openly opposing or secretly killing him. But in spite of all opposition, Gov. Bushnell is reinstated and a Republican legislature secured which will without doubt give Mark Hanna his just reward by sending him for six years to the United States Senate, where his services are needed.

THE COMING ISSUE.

It is somewhat amusing to see how the free silver press is taking in order to prove that the free silver issue is not dead, that the battle of the money standards is not over. No close observer has, at any time since the money question became an issue, claimed that the issue was dead or the question at all settled. The money question will remain an issue in politics and will not be "settled" until some other issue comes to the front, which may be used by political agitators as a stepping-stone to office and which the restless elements of society will accept as a possible panacea for all their ills. When that time comes, as it will in a few years, the money question will sink out of sight and cease to be a subject for political agitation.

It is painful to think what the Courier-Journal would do were it not for the tariff question, which it utilizes as a sort of consolation issue. Nothing is more certain in the political world than that a protective tariff has come to stay; that it will be remodelled and adapted to successive conditions as they arise; that the American laborer will demand adequate protection, and an enlightened and progressive American people will continue to grant it. The tariff has ceased to be an issue except with certain newspapers and political thinkers who are not exactly certain of their own political whereabouts.

One reason why the advocates of free silver made such a ten strike with the people last year and why Bryanism spread with such rapidity was that the financial question was put forward in the Chicago platform as of far greater importance than the tariff issue. While the Chicago platform contained a free trade plank it was greatly modified and was so subordinated to the rest of the document that the issue became one of secondary importance in the eyes of the revised Democracy. Those leaders who framed the Chicago platform well knew that free trade could never again furnish the inspiration for an enthusiastic campaign, and that to reach the people something new must be brought forth. The abandonment of the tariff issue by those leaders, who have shown themselves to be shrewd political observers, was deliberate and was the result of a full knowledge of the fact that as a campaign issue free trade was dead.

Nothing then is surer than that the money question as a campaign issue is most intensely alive. But it can not be asserted with equal positiveness that that phase of the money question presented by the party of cheap money in 1900 will be the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. While the silver mine owner was a devoted supporter of W. J. Bryan last year and apparently a generous contributor to the Democratic campaign fund it does not follow that his interests are at all the object of concern by the free silver leaders. It may be that free coinage of silver will be abandoned and instead of a dollar with sixty cents flat, one with 100 cents flat will be advocated. But whatever be the proportion of the ratio the issue of the next two or three national campaigns will be the money question.

SOME FAITHFUL ONES LEFT.

After reading the Courier-Journal's carefully and intricately worded abandonment of the fight for sound money, when it speaks of going "to political annihilation with perfect composure," having surrendered its "share in any of the responsibilities of party leadership," and proposes in the future to contribute what it is able "to the ascertainment and vindication of truth," we turn with pleasure to the Lexington Morning Herald, the only National Democratic daily now in Kentucky.

In its issue of November 7, under caption of "Steadfast to the End," it says, in part, as follows:

There has been some loose talk in some papers about abandoning the separate organization formed at Louisville on August 20 of last year, perfected at Indianapolis on September 2, continued at Louisville on July 14 of this year, and covering every state in this state and almost every state in the Union.

No newspaper, no man can dissolve that party; no defeat can destroy it; it remains today and will remain until the battle of the standards is ended. It will not disband in Kentucky under the result of last Tuesday; there was nothing in that election to cause it to surrender its identity or lose its courage.

The nomination of Capt. Hindman may have been erroneous or it may not, and it is for the future to determine. He made a gallant and most meritorious fight; the speeches made by Bynum, Patterson, Lindsay, Yost, Buckner and others were able and have done service. The success of such a canvass is not always to be measured by votes. All knew that the election of Gov. Hindman was impossible; our peculiar ballot and our miserable election laws made voters afraid of spoiling their ballot if they undertook to vote under two emblems; local races generated heat and Capt. Hindman—to use a common phrase—was "lost in the shuffle." The votes received by him are true blue; thousands equally true did not vote at all; there is a decrease of largely over 100,000 votes since last November; those are not silver Democrats; they are dissatisfied Republicans; dissatisfied Democrats who would not vote for any nominee of that party and felt it useless to vote for Hindman. These dissenting voters would have made immense difference in the result. The vote received by Hindman is many thousands less than that cast for Bryan; he received thousands of Democrats who did not permit the currency question to decide their action; he received many more who would not risk voting a split ticket. The vote in Louisville demonstrates this. Does any one believe that the sound money sentiment is absolutely wiped out in that city; that the inconsiderable vote received there by Hindman represents all the strength of sound money in that great and commercial city? It would be absurd to think this.

The same sense of duty, the same profound conviction which produced the Indianapolis convention still govern those who participated in that movement. The army is undiminished and will neither surrender, disband or go over to the foes of good government, of honest money, of pure courts and the reign of the law, who treacherously obtained control of the Chicago convention, adopted a Populist platform and nominated an anti-Democratic ticket.

This army will be in the field next year and the year after, and will decide the battle after that. A reunited Democracy can win. The country gladly gave power to such a Democracy in 1892; it would still more gladly restore that party on those principles and with those pledges to power in 1900. It will not turn over the government to the allied armies which conquered the Chicago convention, but was defeated at that; and if the principles announced then be reaffirmed and the ticket be re-nominated, the defeat will be repeated and the sound money men will be the cause of it.

On this fall Sunday morning let us be frank with ourselves and with each other. Last year we solemnly avowed that our convictions would not permit us to support those nominees on that platform for ourselves we were in earnest, we meant every word of that declaration; we did not mean that our support could be obtained by a thrashing, that at the first reverse we would cry paccavi and beg for absorption, or leave the field of battle. Loving our country, loving our party, loving its ancient and honorable principles, the Herald took its stand; it has made its fight; it has no apologies; it does not surrender; it is not alarmed; no panic has entered its ranks; with the same moderation of utterance it marches to the future and has no doubt of the ultimate result; universal trade based on peaceful and untrammeled commercial laws and measured and rewarded by universal money, current among the merchants of the world—this is the future of our republic. Free speech, free suffrage, full protection in all courts, equal rights, impartial tribunals, official honesty, untrammelled commerce, a single standard of stable value—this is the future for which the Herald and its party fight; for which they are willing to fight at every sacrifice and every risk.

hakespeare, if he could have lifted the veil from several centuries and peeped into the beyond he would never have compromised his reputed intelligence by so indiscreet an expression as "There's nothing new under the sun." If things materialize and reports are true, society folks will have comparatively a new feature added to the merry-go-round of pleasure for this season. It is a cake-walk that is being talked of by some of the young men well known in society. Not an imitation cake-walk, but a real, live cake-walk, with Paducah's "400" a-walking for that cake. One of the inventive geniuses, whose proclivities for doing the "boom de shay" turns will serve him well in his effort at "follies" de cake," says to make the affair a success masculine beauty and feminine grace must be hidden by a black face. No burlesque effort allowed; managed strictly according to the best known rules and the band will play "Rastus on Parade," the accepted air for cake-walking. However this is "outré nous." But people will talk and a writer must write, so there's no limit to the amount of salt to be used.

In a great many of the larger cities sweet charity is to the front now, and entertainments for the benefit of the needy will be liberally sandwiched in between the fashionable functions. This is as it should be. The idle votaries of fashion should pause once in a while to think of giving a helping hand to their less favored sisters.

In Evansville society all eyes are turned upon the latter part of this month, the proceeds of which will go to bring light and warmth and cheer into the poverty stricken homes of that city, to make a measurably happy lot for those who cannot help themselves.

The Young Men's German Club held a meeting Sunday afternoon at the News office, to reorganize for the winter.

Thursday afternoon at 2 p. m. the Magazine Club will meet with Mrs. William Bradshaw on Broadway. The magazines selected for the monthly reports are Harper's, McClure's, Munsey's, Cosmopolitan and Nineteenth Century.

The Duplicate Whist Club had its first meeting this afternoon with Mrs. D. G. Murrell, to reorganize.

A missionary tea is to be given Friday at 3 p. m. at the Episcopal rectory on Court street.

The Young Ladies' Cinque Club will be entertained by Miss Pauline Houston Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The next meeting of the Married Ladies' Euchre club will be with Mrs. Will Bradshaw on Wednesday next.

Dan Cupid has been waging a relentless warfare this season among the society bells and beaux of our city. His victims still seem to yield to his tyranny, and unless signs go for nothing we are to have one or two midwinter nuptial knots tied.

One of them is said to take place during the Xmas holidays. The young gentleman in the case is a leading druggist, very popular in society. The other one is to take place the first of the year. The young lady resides on Broadway and the young gentleman is from a distance.

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

Dr. C. E. Whitesides, the well known dentist, was the recipient a day or two ago of a very interesting letter. The letter was one that was twenty-nine days reaching Paducah, its destination, from the time it was posted. The writer was Mr. J. V. Voris, a nephew of the doctor, who resides in Sao Paulo, Brazil. The young man is a dentist, and formerly resided in Indiana. He went to South America some time ago to make his fortune and see something of the world. Several months since he and a small party of Americans, accompanied by two or three natives, penetrated the unexplored interior of the Rio Janeiro country to a great depth in an uncivilized and uninhabited wilderness for four months. During this time they did not gaze upon the face of a single human being except those in their own party. The young man, in his letter, says he will not undertake to specify the size of some of the snakes and other reptiles they saw, for fear his reputation for truth and veracity might be impaired. He and his partner carried about $3,000 a month when at home attending to business.

All lovers of high class farce comedy should not miss "The Captain of the Nonsuch," at Morton's Opera house tonight. This show is positively one of the best on the road, and those who fail to attend and feel like kicking themselves the next day, when they hear others say how good it was, may bear in mind that they were given a timely tip beforehand, which they did not take. It is a good show and one given by a first class company.

There are sad and sorrowful lamentations among a certain coterie of young men well known in Paducah, evoked by the recent revelation that life is full of deception and defeat.

The story goes that a popular young beauty from another state, who is visiting the Southside, had been snatching hearts at lively rate for several days, and even since she came to Paducah has had strings galore to her bow. When she arrived, with her mother, the papers simply said that "Mrs. So-and-so and her daughter" were visiting here. The daughter was the young lady in question, and her beauty and intellectuality at once made her very popular. Flowers and bouquets were showered in upon her. She was the recipient of many successive serenades, and in short was a reigning belle for whose smiles and favor the young men earnestly tried with each other. But lo! it develops that she has been married two years. The news fell like a thunder bolt among the youths, and those who were least smitten have now told it on the others. It is no fault of the pretty young wife, however, that the fact she is married was not known. If they had asked her, she would in all probability have told them.

"Say, Jen," faltered uncle Remus, of the Pinhook section, after his fifth successive attempt to get connection over the telephone, "Why don't they get more gals up there? Hyer I've rang 'em up five times at 'er called for 110, an' every darned time she squalls: 'Busy now.' I'd like to know why in 'th' thunder they don't get more gals if them they've got air allus so blamed busy!"

Whenever a man is seen in consultation with a councilman-elect, his friends at once decide he is after some office. Hence if you are not running for office, stay away from the new councilmen!

Those men who have tried to "tote water on both shoulders" will find in the end that their load has dragged them even far below the places from which they were first elevated.

There will be no paucity of amusement during the next two weeks in Paducah. With "Captain of the Nonsuch" and the B. P. O. E. social session tonight, there will follow on Thursday, Friday and Saturday night of this week the soubrette Augusta Hooley and a strong company of players in "Duffy's M'chaps" and other plays. On the 15th Yale's "12 Temptations" will pay its annual visit. On the 16th, will be Willis Irwin in Monodram and Monologue, the Eclectic Medical Association on the 16th, 17th and 18th and on the 18th Lincoln J. Carter's "Heart of Chicago." On the 19th there will be a hanging and corner stonelaying. Then follow attractions incident to Thanksgiving. Truly no one should want for entertainment during the remainder of the month.

"What is that over there, a museum?" inquired a stranger of a citizen near Second and Broadway yesterday.

"Naw."

CHARGED WITH LUNACY.

Jane Jones Seems to Have Bats in Her Belfry.

Constables Patton and Futrell Have a Time Taking Her.

Jane Jones, colored, who stood guard over the putrid remains of her daughter, Ella Jones, at her home on South Fourth street yesterday, and would not suffer them interred until Coroner Nance went to the house with a police officer, to enforce a burial, was arrested this morning by Constables Patton and Futrell on a writ of lunacy inquired and taken to the county jail. The aged woman evidently "has bats in her belfry," and will be tried before Judge Bishop at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The officers had considerable difficulty in taking her. Last night she successfully vanquished them, and when they went back this forenoon she drove them away with a chair. She was in such a state of dishevelment that she had to be taken to the court house in a carriage, where she was properly dressed. The officers finally persuaded her to go by making her believe somebody was trying to defraud her out of her property.

FEELERS IN PLACE OF EYES.

Some New Facts About Blind Fish—Can Live Long Without Food.

The most abundant species of blind fish is about five inches long when full grown. Its body is perfectly smooth and its skin has no pigment, so that it is translucent, and the entire fish has a pinkish appearance, "resembling a skinned catfish." About the head, especially in the young fish, are many cilia or feelers, giving a fuzzy appearance in the case of young fish. These feelers take the place of eyes to some extent, but in spite of them the fish frequently runs against the wall of its cavern or some other obstacle. It is protected from injury, however, by its long lower jaw, which acts as a bumper. In its native caverns the blind fish has practically no enemies, but no amount of noise attracts its attention, for it seems to be devoid of ears as of eyes.

It is not quite correct, however, to imply that the blind fish has no eyes. It is, indeed, absolutely blind, but it nevertheless has the rudiments of eyes, reminiscent of that very thing in the case of some other fishes. Prof. Eidenmann has made some highly important microscopic sections of these rudimentary eyes and compared them with sections of the eyes of normal fishes. He finds in the degenerated eyes of all the main varieties of cells that are found in the normal eye, but in a very aborted condition. Thus the crystalline lens is represented by a mere dot, composed of but a few microscopic cells. The optic nerve is even more rudimentary, so that there is no connection between the rudimentary eye and the brain. Thus it is absolutely certain that the blind fish cannot detect the slightest trace of light with its rudimentary eye. Yet, strangely enough, it has been determined by Prof. Eidenmann that the blind fish may appreciate the presence of light in some other way. Its native caverns are absolutely dark—dark as no night in the outer world ever is. But if the fish is brought out into the light, it seems to appreciate the change in its conditions; somewhat, perhaps, as a plant appreciates the difference between light and darkness. Doubtless such a rudimentary sensitivity to light as this may be a property of all animal bodies, but one that is overlooked in view of the highly developed sensitiveness which the functional eye has developed.

Just as the blind fish, though unable to see, has an eye, so also it has the pigment cells in its skin, though these are devoid of pigment. The value of pigmentation of the skin of creatures of ordinary habitat is protection from the sun or from the eyes of other creatures. As the blind fish lives where neither sun nor eye penetrate, it has no need of protective coloration. But the fact that the unpigmented pigment cells are still found in its skin shows plainly enough that it is descended from a fish that had use for such cells.

Like the sightless eyes, these pigment cells are proof of the evolutionary origin of the blind fish, and they supply, therefore, additional proof, where such is needed, of the truth of the evolutionary hypothesis. More than that, the degenerated cells have a bearing also on the question of variation through other processes than natural selection; for it is argued that a creature living in the dark, and, moreover, one having no predaceous enemies, could be neither better nor injured by the presence of pigment in its skin; hence that natural selection pure and simple cannot account for the loss of pigment. The blind fish would seem, therefore, in regard to its rudimentary pigment cells, to offer an illustration of the change wrought by changed environment and of loss through disuse.

This anomalous fish has yet another striking peculiarity in its manner of breeding. Instead of depositing her eggs in the bottom of water, as do the most other fishes, the female conveys her eggs to her gill cases, where they remain till they hatch, and where for some time the young take refuge.

Food is probably not over abundant in the dark underground waters, but fortunately the blind fish is a hardy creature, able to thrive on very meager diet.

Prof. Eidenmann has shown that when placed in an ordinary aquarium, the creature will live for at least two years absolutely without food, and sometimes appear strong and healthy. Several living specimens from his aquarium were exhibited to the members of the British association, and attracted much attention from the foreign zoologists.—Louisville Courier Journal.

Value and Use of Cotton Seed Waste.

Cotton-seed waste, which a generation ago accumulated at the gin-houses, filled up the streams, ran off in the fields, and became an irritating nuisance, is now worth about $300,000 a year. Every bale of cotton leaves a legacy of half a ton of seed, which, it is said, bristles the planter nearly as much as his cotton. The oil is used for finer grades of soap, as a substitute for lard, and is so near olive oil that an expert can hardly detect the difference. The hulls are fed to cattle, make an excellent fuel, are valuable as paper stock, and when burned the ashes make a fertilizer which is most efficacious. It has recently been discovered that cotton-seed oil, with the addition of 15 percent of crude India rubber, makes an imitation which cannot be distinguished from genuine rubber.—William George Jordan, in Ladies' Home Journal.

Paving Stones of Grass.

Paving blocks made of green grass are now manufactured. The fact that we were once slaves is no reason why we should spend so much time in enjoying ourselves. It is only by work, and plenty of it, that we can make out of ourselves what we ought to be and what some of us are already. We have had, and still have, great men and women of the race, but the fact is, their greatness was not won at a single bound. They worked for it with absorbing devotion and perseverance, and learned gradually how to accomplish the splendid things which made their names immortal. It is the same in all lines of human ambition and endeavor. Nothing that is worth having in this world is obtained at a bargain—that is to say, by accident or exceptional favor. There is an inexorable law which awards the prizes in the long runs to those who deserve them by diligent and intelligent striving. The best of natural gifts must be supplemented by constant and determined labor, or they will bring only disappointment and mockery.

Inferior Goods Knocked Out.

In the long run, good goods win every time. It has been our principle ever since we started in business to handle only the very best grades we could get. We have been particularly careful about our canned goods. Every brand that we sell can be depended upon. We know the canners—know them well—we must know them well before we buy from them.

The fresh vegetable months are about over. That's the reason we now have a more than usually large and varied stock of canned goods.

In Black and White.

Black and white combinations are immensely fashionable, and all black toilets have a distinction that makes them fact that they are smart more than ever acceptable. One that remembers being worn one afternoon on a roll links was of black crepe de chene, the whole gown covered with broad bands of rich black guipure lace, and both directions, leaving, in this way, but small squares of the original crepe foundation. The black crepe was edged by a wonderfully intricate band of black crepe on a silk lining, so that the dress was mysteriously clinging and noiseless. The skirt trailing a bit over the grass, and the under vest of heavy silver and jet embroidery on white satin, a black lace belt flaring out under the chin, and empire epaulets broadening the shoulders, which, with the arms, were loosely defined by the smooth sleeves of unlined black lace, silver embroidered. A bit of black satin encircled the waist, and a hat of black satin straw was heavy with drooping black plumes.—St. Louis Republic.
